2008 CLTA-TEXAS ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Techville Software Development Team Attended the Annual CLTA Meeting in Dallas, TX.

ON August 30, 2008, Techville Software Development Team attended the annual CLTA (Chinese Language Teacher Association) Meeting in the Dallas Chinese Community Center in Dallas, TX. During the conference, they met with more than 130 participants, who are mostly quality teachers and educators from schools with Chinese learning programs from Texas. They presented Penpower Chinese Expert Products and sponsored the event with a Pen scanner Door prize with a value at $200. They also unveiled the new pilot program, a FREE program for selected schools/universities to try out the Penpower Chinese Expert products. Overall, Techville received very good feedback from the conference leaders and participants.

Chinese Learning Library Update:

We have updated our Chinese Nursery Rhymes Series with enhanced translations and a human voice recording feature.

Chinese Nursery Rhymes are traditionally used to teach young children to encourage and help them develop their vocabularies, counting skills, and many other early learning developments.

Through these series, we hope to bring out the creative and lively way to mastering the Chinese Language.

The Chinese Nursery Series are only of the Chinese Learning series that we are currently developing. We also offer flexible Chinese learning curriculum development for your personal use. We hope to be your partner in developing your educational needs through technology.

SUCCESS STORY: UMAX TECHNICAL SUPPORT

"Thank you for the very detailed and very quick reply to my technical question. I also had no idea that UMAX scanners are now available at such a low price. If I do buy a new scanner I'm sure it will be a UMAX brand, just because I have received such great technical support so recently."

TIP OF THE MONTH

BACKING UP YOUR DATA

Although most computers are protected by anti-virus and firewalls, it is always wise to back up your important data regularly. The most common cause for data loss is hard drive failure. However, there are other situations where data loss can happen, such as fire, lighting, etc. In any circumstances, the last thing that you want is that you lose all access to all of your important data and that they can no longer be retrieved. We recommend that data back up is done regularly once a week or once a month for example. For more crucial data, we prefer that you do a daily back up.

Techville Computer Centers provides professional data back up services for your needs. Our skilled technicians are here to help you secure your data so that you can have all the peace in mind when it comes to your important data.
